

I want to create a product line but I don't see it in the sourcing marketplace. What should I do?

group: Designing & Sourcing Products

Pietra's Sourcing Marketplace is made up of contract manufacturers who can make almost anything. Most of the items you see on the marketplace are samples of past projects that you can purchase to test quality. Each supplier profile also indicates their manufacturing capability. If you see something that is similar to what you want to make, you can chat with the supplier directly on Pietra and ask them if they can make it.

If you already know exactly what you want to create, you also have the option of creating an RFP which allows you to submit a request to the manufacturing network and let suppliers respond to you. For example, if you are looking for a very specific type of sweater, you can fill out an RFP and let all the sweater factories in Pietra's network send you a message if they are able to make the item you are requesting.

Finally, Pietra is always adding new factories and new items to the sourcing marketplace. You should check back in frequently in case a new factory has been added to our network that may be able to work with you!

You can also help us out by letting us know of something you're interested in that you're unable to find on the platform. Simply write into creators@pietrstudio.com, and we'll be more than happy to assist. Also, continue to check back in as we onboard new suppliers to our platform every day!
